FUESD Superintendent Named 2022-23 Exemplary Woman in Education Award Winner.

Fallbrook Union Elementary School District is honored to announce FUESD Superintendent Dr. Candace Singh has been chosen for the 2022-23 Exemplary Woman in Education Award by the Association of California School Administrators (ACSA.) Countless female leaders from across the state of California were nominated and considered for this prestigious award.

The Exemplary Woman in Education Award was created to highlight a female leader in California who has shown a passion for educators, advocated for the value of public schools, and demonstrated effective crisis leadership during unprecedented times.

Dr. Singh shared, "I am honored to receive the Exemplary Woman in Education Award on behalf of all the remarkable female leaders I have the privilege to work alongside in FUESD. I am passionate about lifting up and celebrating the work of female leaders and am humbled to be recognized among so many other exceptional women throughout California."

Superintendent Singh will be honored with the award, in person, at the state Women in School Leadership Forum in San Diego later this month. The Women in School Leadership Forum is an inclusive space that brings together female educational leaders and educators from across California for a multi-day event focusing on leadership, diversity, and empowerment.
